Grant County Strategic Planning Summary Report

Strategic Planning

Strategic Planning is a disciplined effort to produce fundamental decisions and actions that shape and guide what an organization is, what it does, and why it does it (Bryson, 1995). The strategic planning process is really about getting people together to talk about what is important, and then doing something about it. The process allows organizations to:

- Examine the environment in which they exist and operate
- Explore the factors and trends that affect the way they do business and carry out their roles
- Seek to meet their mandates and fulfill their missions
- Frame the strategic issues they must address
- Find ways to address these issues

The benefits of strategic planning are numerous. An organization can increase effectiveness and efficiency; improve understanding through better learning; make better decisions; enhance organizational capabilities; improve communication and public relations; and increase political support.

This report was prepared by Paul Thares, UW-Extension.

Input

Many individuals including, but not limited to citizens, community partners, employees, department heads and the county board provided valuable input throughout the process.

Strategic Planning Committee

The Grant County Strategic planning process was facilitated by Paul Thares with assistance from Joyce Roling and lead by a committee comprised of Tony Runde Chairman, Mark Stead, Robert Keeney, John Patcle, Lynn Moris, Steve Adrian and Larry Wolf. This committee was staffed by Paul Thares and Joyce Roling.

The Process

The Grant County Board started the strategic planning process in December of 2008. Paul Thares discussed the process of strategic planning and explained the ten steps, then the committee discussed each step.

1. Initiate and agree on a strategic planning process
2. Identify organizational mandates
3. Clarify organizational mission and values
4. SWOC Analysis
 - Strengths
 - Weaknesses
 - Opportunities/Hopes
 - Challenges
5. Identify the strategic issues facing the organization
6. Formulate strategies
7. Review and adopt strategies
8. Establish a vision
9. Develop an implementation process
10. Reassess

The committee agreed that there must be flexibility in the planning process. Thus the committee chose to adapt the strategic planning process to fit the County Board's current needs and time frame. The Grant County strategic plan will incorporate steps 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, and 10 of the ten step process.
